

An 8 O'Clock Movie Show —

Public Invited to Watch NHS Top LM Again Tomorrow Night

You still don't believe it?

Well, tomorrow night you may step into the Norristown High School auditorium and watch Lower Merion High's football team take four more shots at the NHS line from 1½ yards out.

You'll see the Eagle forward wall dig in and again repulse the bid that prevented LM from prolonging its 32-game unbeaten streak.

Occasion will be a public showing of the Norristown vs. Lower Merion game film. Everybody is invited. The door is wide open, free of charge. It's scheduled for 8 o'clock.

Coach Roy Kent has made practice of showing movies of the previous week's game to fathers of the players each Wednesday night.

But because of the wide-spread interest in the 7-6 upset victory scored by NHS, its fourth straight of the current season, Norristown High School authorities are inviting all who care to see this Wednesday night.

Kent also will show film clips of outstanding plays in the three previous games against Ridley Township, Phoenixville and Potstown.

It goes without saying, though, that the film of the Norristown-Lower Merion game will be the one nominated for the Academy Award.
