

NHS Gridders

Working Hard

SHAWNEE - ON - DELAWARE, Aug. 29 — Norristown High School's football team, practicing here in the cool of the Pocono Mountains, is fast rounding in shape.

The Eagles, attending a pre-season grid camp for the first time in many years, are put through twice-daily practice sessions and then review mistakes and last year's movies at an evening program.

"These kids are really getting the work, but it will pay off," one observer said. "It's a big team this year and the players are really working hard up here."

Head Coach Roy Kent, along with his capable assistants, Leon Martz, Irv Hess and Paul Zdanowicz, allow their team plenty of time for recreation, despite the rough work schedule.

There's a recreation period before and after lunch as well as after the afternoon practice session before dinner. At these times, the candidates—about 60 strong—can swim, fish, go boating or play any of the many games offered here at Camp Sun Mountain.

The team will return home Saturday afternoon. Since school starts next Tuesday, the Eagles will then go back to the one-practice a day routine, starting Tuesday afternoon.

The season opens Friday night, Sept. 20, at Ridley Township.

---